Your Degree Option

K-State offers a Bachelor of Science degree in Technology Management through distance education. This degree completion program is designed for students who have completed the A.A.S. degree in Technical Studies at Kansas City Kansas Community College College. The Technology Management degree provides a solid understanding of the fundamental areas in management: finance, accounting, business, and marketing. The curriculum is designed to prepare the student for the diverse environment of the business world as it relates to many technical studies areas. By combining a technical area of concentration with advanced business studies, you can be a professional who has the practical and leadership skills to move forward in your career.

Your Career

A Technical Studies degree allows a student a variety of job and career possibilities. K-State at Salina's technology management graduates can use their management and business skills to help further their technology careers, as they will understand how to hire and supervise employees, train new employees, train new supervisors and managers, plan budgets, and manage inventory.

Get Started

The degree map on the reverse page will show you a listing of classes you need to take from Kansas City Kansas Community College and K-State to complete the Technical Studies and Technology Management 2+2. This degree map has been reviewed and accepted by both schools as an illustration, which is subject to change. Since the transferability of courses will vary depending on the program tracks, it is strongly recommended that if students are intending to transfer to K-State, they must consult with Don Von Bergen (K-State Salina) and with their respective K.C.K.C.C. advisor before enrolling in order to determine the transferability of their courses. It is the student's responsibility to follow the transfer requirements established by K-State.

To get started, contact the K-State 2+2 representative by calling 620-786-1188 or e-mail jdunn@k-state.edu.
